Keep Heating, Cooling Ducts in Top Shape

Are you getting more than you bargained for from your heating and cooling ducts?

Duct leaks can make your home uncomfortable and unhealthy. Leaky return ducts can pull pollutants into your home from your attic such as insulation fibers and dust. Ductwork in the crawl space can bring in moisture, pesticides, mold and mildew spores, and animal residue with associated viruses and bacteria.

Return leaks can also pressurize the house, causing excessive air loss to the outdoors and forcing moisture into wall cavities.

Supply ducts with leaks or disconnects waste money and energy into the attic or crawl space, and can cause dangerous backdrafting of combustion appliances.

Leaky or disconnected ductwork is usually easy to find, cheap to fix and saves you a substantial amount of energy, which translates into saving money.

Along with your energy savings you can also receive a Klickitat PUD $300 rebate, if your home is electrically heated.

If you think your home is a candidate for duct sealing, call (541) 296-5652 for a free telephone estimate from Compton's. When the certified "Performance Tested Comfort System" (PTCS) technician comes to your house, he will perform a whole-house leakage test and a duct leakage test. This will tell you how much air your house and your ducts leak.

He will then seal the ductwork and/or replace the crossover, if appropriate. After the job is done, the technician will again test your ducts and provide quantifiable improvement results to you.

The results will also be submitted to Klickitat PUD if your home qualifies for a rebate. Estimated cost to the customer (after the rebate) is in the $150 to $450 range.

Don't waste any more money heating or cooling the outside of your home! Call (509) 773-7622 or (800) 548-8357 to find out if you qualify for a rebate from Klickitat PUD. ■
